

Participants discussing headlines and page layouts for their newspaper using computers

Team 1 visiting the newly built Futaba Station to hear about the current situation of the local community

Team 3 trying out radiation measurement at JAEA ANALYSIS LAB

Putting People's Thoughts into the Newspaper

The students who took part in the four-day Journalism School during their summer vacation wanted to convey how people are moving forward toward revitalization following the Great East Japan Earthquake and TEPCO's Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station accident. Most of them have no personal memories of the disaster, but through enthusiastic reporting, they captured the thoughts and efforts of those working in the Futaba area and completed their own newspaper.

Team 2 receiving an explanation at the Interim Storage Facility Information Center

Team 4 touring the premises of the Fukushima Hydrogen Energy Research Field

Team 5 covering a salt-making activity at the Historical Archive Museum of Tomioka

Team 6 visiting Tomioka Winery's vineyard and listening to an explanation

Published by

Lifelong Learning Division, Cultural and Sports Bureau, Fukushima Prefectural Government

2-16 Sugitsuma-cho, Fukushima City 960-8670 JAPAN
Phone: +81-24-521-7404
E-mail: shougaigakushuu@pref.fukushima.lg.jp

Please share your opinions and feedback. Those who respond to the survey will be entered for a chance to win one of 50 Tosho Card NEXT Net Gift worth 200 yen!

Survey Deadline:
December 15, 2025

図書
NEXT
ネットギフト

